Reviews

This type of publication is every thing and helped me seeking ahead and much more. It usually fails to charge too much. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.

One is known as the fortification set and the other as the terrain set. The fortification set contains eight gabions (round, bottomless baskets, filled with earth), four fascines (bundles of sticks bound together) four hurdles, twenty bags for sand, one box of blocks, representing sod, and one bundle abatis (obstacle composed of felled trees). Besides these there are trench models and material to represent hills, woods, streams, railroads, bridges, concrete, king post, Embankments and obstacles. Reading from left to right, fascines (sticks bound together), gabions (bottomless baskets filled with earth), hurdles and sand-bags From left to right, sand-bags, sod and plank embankments, military pits, abatis (pointed obstacles), wire entanglements and wire fence with apron on each side Samples of trenches, showing simple trench, enlarged trench, trench with traverse sections, communicating trenches and trenches with individual firing positions Rear view of a portion of field fortifications of different kinds made on the sand table queen post, pontoon, railroad trestle, one train, railroad, water tank and about fifty buildings, as well as glass for representing bodies of water. This set teaches mapreading and contours, and with it it is possible to do work in outposts, scouting and other problems in minor tactics, far more satisfactorily than on the map. The terrain set contains a section of wire fence, a section of wire loops, a section of high wire entanglement, a section of low wire entanglement, a section of chevaux de frise (spiked obstacle) and a form...
