A friend said to me, yesterday, that he doubted whether I ought to be present at this meeting, that there was great excitement among the people, and indignation because of my connection with the plan to remove Central University to Danville. If this be so, then, said I, so much the greater reason for me to go; but I think you are mistaken, a Madison county audience, I know, will give me a patient and impartial hearing. In the difficult work of the past twenty-one years, I have had some sharp experiences, but I have been cheered often by the words of Mr. Gladstone on a memorable occasion. Referring to a letter written by him to the untruths and misrepresentations...
